

Helpful Facilities Features

The AIM force and motion PD program does not require highly specialized facilities and can readily be implemented in many settings. However, professional development providers may find the following list of facilities features useful while planning the PD:

- Ample and accessible electrical supply for leader and participant use of computers
- Internet access for leader and participant use of computers
- Seating/workspace arrangements that facilitate small group interaction
- Staging area where supplies and equipment can be prepared without disturbing PD sessions
- Equipment and space for projecting slides/images for all to view
- Long clear area (e.g., wide hallway) to conduct ball-rolling activities
